Volume XXXIV, Number 1

THE PRESS starts on its thirty-fourth year this week with as bright prospects as at any time since it has been under the present management—more than fourteen years. We have not been able to make THE PRESS what we desired it should be at all times, but have done the best we could under the circumstances, and we want to thank the friends and patrons of the paper for their liberal support, as well as patience with our shortcomings. We shall use our best endeavors to improve the paper as the years go by and hope it will continue to command the liberal support it has enjoyed in the past.

All persons subject to Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Dizziness, Heartburn, Vertigo (blind staggers), Foul Breath, Salivary Complications or a constant tired, discouraged feeling should use

HERBINE

The Great Liver Tonic and Regulator That Has Done So Much for the Working People.

It is a marvelous remedy. Its stimulating effect on a Torpid Liver is little less than miraculous. It acts instantly. The first dose brings improvement, a few days' use cures the most obstinate case. Tired, weak, disheartened victims of a Torpid Liver are restored almost in a day. Herbina is a fine cleansing tonic for the Stomach, Liver and Bowels. It puts the system in perfect order, revives the Torpid Liver, strengthens digestion, clears the bowels of constipated conditions and re-establishes regular bowel movements.

Every home should have a bottle of this great regulating medicine. It stands for health for the whole family. All who are constipated, bilious or dyspeptic need its cleansing and renovating influence. It fortifies the body against Pneumonia, Malaria (Chills), Bright's Disease, Typhoid Fever, Yellow Fever or any other deadly disease that may be about.

Price 50c per Bottle.

JAMES F. BALLARD PROPRIETOR ST. LOUIS, MO.

For Sore Eyes, Granulated Lids, Redness of the Eyeball, Weak Sight, Smarting Sensations in the Eyes, use Stephens Eye Salve. It is a remedy of proven merit.

Bollinger County Corn Contestants

The people named below have enrolled in the Acre Yield Corn contest, conducted by the Agricultural department of the State Normal school, Cape Girardeau.

The cash prizes and scholarships distributed by the State Normal school will be limited to those people and those who enroll before June 1, 23 all entries close on that date.

What are the possibilities of our soil when the best seed is used, when we prepare the seed bed in the best possible manner, and make a liberal use of barnyard manure? In 1913 we set 100 bushels per acre as a standard, and the contest was won on a 99 bushel yield. This year we have set 150 bushels per acre. How many in this county can go above the 100 bushel mark? Names of the contestants in the Acre Yield contest from this county are as follows: C. P. Farnsworth, Marble Hill; E. R. Stevens, Glen Allen; Elmer Sizemore, Gipsy.

The Seed Bed

No matter what kind of seed we plant there are a few things that are essential to an ideal seed bed. The furrow slice must be so well turned and in such good condition that it fits down well with the subsoil. This furrow slice must be packed so that water will rise from the subsoil to the place in the soil where the seed is planted. From that point to the surface the ground must be loose. Solid below and a dust mulch above the seed is exactly what we want.

The easiest method of securing an ideal seed bed is to plow and then wait for a good rain to settle and pack the soil, then use the peg tooth harrow. But it does not always rain when we want it to even in good old southeast Missouri.

Last season much corn was planted on ground that was cloddy and loose and it was never able to overcome that handicap. If it does not rain the disc harrow is a good tool to firm the soil. The amount of work it will require will depend upon the physical condition of our furrow slice, but no matter how much work it may require we cannot afford to plant anywhere but in an ideal seed bed.

He Stopped His Paper.

He stopped his paper, he sure did, and who could blame him. He came into our office wearing a face of distress and obstinate despondency. Our first impression was that his house had burned and that his wife and children had been consumed in the flames. We engaged in conversation. Relief came to the editor when the principal topic of conversation turned to the direful results the Wilson administration was having on the country. My friend's hay and corn crops were short and he had neither to sell. His hens didn't lay during the winter, and now eggs were only thirteen cents a dozen. His cows are all having heifer calves, his sows never bring on more than eight pigs at a litter and his mares were not going to bring mule colts. He didn't see how it would be possible to raise the money to pay his income tax. Adam Bede surely had my friend in mind when he wrote the hard luck story of the man "Whose horse went dead and his mule went lame."

And he lost his cow in a poker game, and a cyclone came one summer day and blew the house where he lived away. Then an earthquake came when that was done, and swallowed the ground that the house stood on; Then the tax collector, he came 'round and charged him up with the hole in the ground."

—Bethany Democrat.

Editor in Bad

An editor in the northeastern part of the state is in bad on account of the writup of a wedding. The bridegroom was named Gunn, a son of Abraham Gunn. The girl's name was Smith. The editor turned in the copy to the office boy the last thing before going to press, then hurried to the train to be gone two days. When the paper was printed, the article was headed: "Gun Smith" and went on to say that the bride was arrayed in a dress of "White mule" instead of white mull, and she carried a red "nose in the copy red" rose. The editor wrote that the groom was a well liked son of A. Gunn, the boy set it up: "The groom is a wall eyed son of a gun." The editor has never been able to square it with the Gunns.

WORMS

When in health the baby laughs, the child plays, the youth enjoys athletic sports. The contrary indicates some departure from health, and in the case of children, is often caused by worms; a child so afflicted is pale, sickly and peevish. WHITE'S CREAM VERMIFUGE is the deadly enemy of worms. It destroys the worms and strengthens the weakened organs. Children who take it speedily recover their normal happy condition.
